The Scott Homestead, Homesteaded in 1890

Nebraska has very little public hunting ground. It can be hard for a non-resident to gain access to the "good ground". My father and I have taken care of that for you. My father owns and operates the farm today. Plus, we have the availability to other properties in the local area.

Let me introduce our operation to you. My family homesteaded in Nebraska in 1890. The farm is located just 9 miles north of Burwell, Nebraska. The farm consists of rolling farmland and pastures with a pond. We have crops such as corn, beans and alfalfa. Also, food plots for the wildlife.

The hunts are self guided or semi guided. To keep the hunts affordable, the hunter is responsible for lodging, meals, game tags, taxidermy and game processing. I can assist you with your needs.

Note: This is not a high fence operation. We cannot guarantee that the game will be cooperative for a completely successful hunt.
